

Are You Ready for the Practical Business Side of the Foodservice Business?

presents

Culinary Incubator Foodservice Entrepreneur Training Program

Monday, August 3 – Wednesday, Sept 30, 2015

E-mail dsclafani@lsbdc.org NOW to request an application. The Application deadline is July 20!

On August 3, Capital One, the LSBDC, Goodwork Network and Harmony will launch the second Culinary Incubator Foodservice Entrepreneur Training Program for local foodservice businesses.

Cost?

Capital One Bank is sponsoring this program. The program is specialized for free foodservice entrepreneurial training.

Who Should Apply?

Food Related Businesses such as:

- Farmer's market business vendors
- Food truck owners
- Pop-up business owners
- Restaurant owners
- Caterers and more...

Purpose of the Program:

The training program is designed for small business food business owners that want to build a good foundation to strengthen and expand their food businesses. The goal is to promote increase in sales and the ability to hire more staff. The course will include many aspects important to operating a successful food business. The 8 hr. ServSafe Management Course and Exam will be included in the training. Dianne Sclafani, Food and Restaurant Specialist for the LSBDC will be instructing the classes along with other expert instructors.

When:

Monday, August 3 – Wednesday, Sept 30, 2015

You must be dedicated to the rules of the program in studying, time, and attendance for completion. The classes will be twice a week, Mondays and Wednesdays from 1pm - 5pm, August 3 through Sept 28. On Sept 30, the class will be from 8am - 5pm for the 8 hr. ServSafe Course and Exam.

Where:

Training Classes will be at Xavier University

Contact for Information and Application for an Interview:

Dianne Sclafani
Business Consultant-Food and Restaurant Industry Specialist
LSBDC Greater New Orleans and Bayou Region, www.lsbdc.org
3330 N. Causeway Blvd., Suite 422
Metairie, La. 70002
(504) 908-1665 direct line

E-mail dsclafani@lsbdc.org, NOW to request an application. The Application deadline is July 20!